PYTHIAN GRAND LODGE BEGINS ITS SESSIONS

The first day's session of the Grand Lodge of the Knights of Pythias and the Pythian Sisters was held in Mesa yesterday, and will be continued throughout today, the sessions of the K. of P. being held in their own hall and that of the Pythian Sisters taking place in the Masonic hall. Mesa had been selected as the meeting place for the year 1915 at the session which was held one year ago at Globe. A large number of delegates from all parts of the state are present, many of the Knights being accompanied by their ladies.

The members of the Damon lodge at Mesa had made extensive preparations for the entertainment of the visiting Knights, and they were aided in these arrangements by the Commercial club, and the Ladies' City League. The mercantile establishments of the city were most handsomely decorated for the occasion with the colors of the Pythians--red, yellow and blue--and the color of the ladies' auxiliary orders, white. Combined with these bright tints, the red, white and blue of Grand Globe, which was displayed with an equally elaborate hand, blended into a most attractive riot of color which was very pleasing to the eye of the visiting lodge men and their fair companions. The Masonic and Pythian halls were also appropriately decorated and every effort was made to provide for the material comforts of the delegates while in the city.

Yesterday morning at the business session of the lodge a resolution was presented asking that a change be made in the by-laws so as to permit the holding of the Grand Lodge in sessions two years apart, instead of yearly as is done under the present plan. The proposition was carried by a majority of one vote in the committee of the whole but it is understood that when the matter comes before the Grand Lodge for ratification, the change will not be approved and the meeting time will remain as it is at present.

Thomas M. Smith, the present Vice Grand Chancellor of the order, is a candidate for election to the position of Grand Chancellor, and will probably be named for that honor without opposition.

Charles Davis, who represents the insurance department of the order, was present and delivered a timely and interesting address to those assembled.

A telegram from Br. S. Young, Supreme Chancellor, conveying greetings and expressing his good wishes, was read during the session. The proposition to establish a Pythian sanitarium in the Salt River valley received the hearty support of the convention and the proposed Pythian children's home on the mesa near south of Tempe. It is hoped that this sum will be augmented by liberal donations from the local lodges, so as to insure the building of the home.

About fifty visiting Knights, aside from the delegates, were present at yesterday's session, among them being prominent members of the lodge in the state. Twenty-two members of the Mesa lodge took part in the dramatic presentation of the first degree, the seating capacity of the hall being taxed to its capacity during the presentation of the work.

The opening session of the Pythian Sisters was held in the Masonic hall with an exemplification of their work. Following this an elaborate banquet was tendered the visiting ladies, this function being held in the Pythian hall. After this came the grand ball held in the Masonic lodge rooms.

With Chancellor Commander Thomas M. Smith in the chair, the first degree was administered to the following candidates: Leroy H. Stewart, Kate Hart, E. E. Kellogg, George Gardner, Axel Goldenstein and J. W. Purrows. The teams from the Mesa and Tempe lodges performed the work in a most creditable manner, and following the conclusion of the ritualistic instruction, the members of the latter team gave a presentation of the story of Damon and Pythias. The spectacle was staged in the banquet hall of the lodge room and the scenery and costumes were in charge of some of the Pythian movie experts from this city. Mr. Fielding is an enthusiastic member of the K. of P. lodge, but was prevented from attending the present session on account of some important business engagements.

However, Mr. Fielding sent a telegram expressing his regrets over his inability to be present, and assuring the Knights of his good wishes. The evening session lasted until nearly midnight, and was thoroughly enjoyed by those who were privileged to attend the entertainment.

Today's session will be given over largely to the routine work of the order, and will include the election of the new officers for the ensuing year. The entertainment committee, consisting of J. G. Spangler, Dr. J. B. Nelson, M. J. Doherty, Harry Chandler, W. M. Beach and Prof. J. D. Loper, will provide a number of autos and the visitors will be given a ride through Mesa and its environs, the Pythian farm being among the places visited.

All preparations are prepared for the high degree ceremony in Mesa this evening. Tomorrow, the delegates have been on the hunt for Tyroes and have rounded up a good class that will be offered up the lean and hungry Tiger.

All Dekeys going from here, if they have not already a way to go should be present at the K. of P. lodge not later than 6:30 this evening as the last car leaves at 7:30. There will be plenty of room for all those who care to go.

GOOD SMOKING HAUL IS MADE

Policeman Thurman made his fourth recent catch of Celestials "biting the pipe" yesterday afternoon and with the assistance of Policemen Wilkerson and Hunt, landed two in the city jail. They were Leo Tong and Sing Lee. Bail was fixed at $100 each which the two furnished.

The arrest of Tong and Lee did not bring into the coils the entire party which was engaged in coaxing the mules by the poppy route, for four others managed to make their escape in the manner with which only a Chinaman is familiar. But the arrest of the two who were prevented from escaping when Policeman Hunt threw his gun down upon them and commanded them to halt, unearthed a veritable opium smoking den. And more than that it revealed the fact that in very close proximity to the loss house in Chinatown, no small pains had been spared at some time or other to make opium smoking comparatively safe from official intrusion.

After Tong and Lee had been placed behind the bars temporarily, the officers called two Chinese to the basement at 215 South First avenue, where the Chinamen had been observed smoking. An hour's careful search disclosed no end of places prepared for hiding opium smoking equipment and opium itself. Even in a small closet some utensils were found, while stowed away with dishes and cooking equipment were located a number of pipes. All told the number of pipes, lamps, bowls and vessels containing yee shoo or opium, exceeded any previously taken to this police station.

A trial of the two Celestials is set for this afternoon. In evidence will be displayed the outfits taken in yesterday's raid, as well as a small quantity of opium found in a package of handmade cigarettes taken from one of the prisoners.

The delegates have expressed themselves as being highly pleased at the cordial and hospitable manner in which they have been received by the Mesa lodge and the citizens of the city, and have taken pains to assure their hosts that their stay in the city will not soon be forgotten. Amongst the delegates have been representatives from such professions as doctors, lawyers, bankers, miners, business men and workers of the various fields of activities which are carried on in the state of Arizona, and the personnel of these men does credit to the high standing which the order at present enjoys.

specter in his home county, regarded throughout Arizona and the southwest as a student and thinker, Judge Frank O. Smith of Yavapai county, is a man whom it is a pleasure to know and a privilege to be permitted to hear him speak. I take great pleasure in introducing Judge Smith.

After having assured himself that his entire audience would likely remain throughout his talk if they were informed as to the result of the ball game and announcing that Boston had again won, Judge Smith said:

Mr. Chairman, Knights of Columbus, Ladies and Gentlemen: It seems strange that it is only within recent years that we are beginning to appreciate the achievement of Christopher Columbus. Our recognition of this remarkably man, has indeed been tardy. Within the present generation however a large majority of the states have established October twelfth as a legal holiday to be known as Columbus day.

Throughout the union citizens are gathered in public exercises today to honor the memory of the great discoverer. The growth of this custom has been due to the earnest efforts of the Knights of Columbus, and as I am not allied or affiliated with this society, I am glad to express the appreciation all thoughtful citizens feel to this order in bringing to the work of the great navigator to public recognition and attention.

In the swift pace we follow it is difficult to pause even for a fleeting moment to celebrate an event more than four centuries old. In the brief time we give to hero-worship we find national characters. We are hardly prepared to look beyond our own boundaries. It is difficult to arouse enthusiasm for one whose achievements have been peaceful. The popular hero must be seen through the haze of battle smoke, with sword and shield, leading his victorious men over the bodies of vanquished and dying foes. Thinking men look forward to the time when, without lessening the reverence due worthy warriors we shall give equal honor to the patient, determined men who have peacefully advanced the welfare of mankind.

The voyages and discoveries of Columbus present a subject worthy the attention of every American. The great outstanding features are known to every school boy: his venture across the trackless ocean and landing on the island of San Salvador, four hundred and twenty-three years ago today; his three later voyages; his discovery of the main land of South America, and his death, destitute and friendless, fate denying even to his dying hour the knowledge that he had, in truth, found a new world. Time will not permit us to recount the details of these voyages, although they are of entrancing interest. Writers of recognized authority have made them accessible to all. They will richly repay careful reading. As a story of wonderful discovery, patient determination, extreme hardship and of great accomplishments with slight resources they are without a parallel. The record amply proves that the courage that sustained the heart of Columbus and urged him on to final success has never been surpassed. Any achievement, great or small, arouses jealousy and opposition. The unjust assaults of dangerous enemies and the insidious slanders of jealous rivals upon the great navigator would move hearts of stone to sympathy. Washington Irving, his able biographer, referring to how the small and great following the fearless path of duty must alike endure this same bitter experience, commenting upon the pomp and ceremony incident to the removal of the ashes of the great discoverer from San Domingo to Havana in 1795, from the very port where, three hundred years before, he had been violently assailed, unjustly arrested and sent to Spain in chains, eloquently observes:

"Such honors it
